ORMS RECEIVED FOR LANDLORDS TO SEEK RENT CEILING HIKES

INCREASES BASED ON TAX, INSURANCE RATE BOOSTS ARE POSSIBLE

What Washington declares in its sitive way to be the answer to e small landlord's prayer for reef has been received at the office of C. J. Lockhart, area rent director.

Lockhart, director for the Na arro-Kaufman-Ellis county unit, s the form is No. D-58A, de ned for small landlords to quali n a short circuit route for rent reases.

he director said he had receiv umerous inquiries recently con ng adjustment of rents on rounds that taxes and insur have been substantially in d in this area.

aid the form was born for who own four or less rental and do not keep complete ecords.

"There probably are a number of landlords who own two or three pieces of property whose rental position might be improved by the use of this new petition," Lockhart said. "We are making every effort to advise them how to properly use this form."

To qualify for a rent increase under the form the landlord must show that his expenses for the current year have increased over a prior base period because of higher taxes, fuel, utilities or insurance costs, and that such increases have not been offset by higher rents.

A complicated accounting system is not required of the landlord. Signed statements or receipted bills from tax collectors, fuel dealers, tility companies or insurance ms will suffice to establish the ts of such items.

ix conditions must be present order for the landlord to quali to use the new short form peti on, Lockhart said. They are:

1. If four or fewer rental dwelling units are owned.
2. If the petition is based only on increased costs for taxes, fuel utilities or insurance.
3. If no part of the building concerned is used for commercial purposes.
4. If the services, furnishings, furniture and equipment provided are not substantially less than those provided on the maximum rent date, except where there has been a reduction in the maximum rent by the Area Rent Office for a decrease in such items.
5. If there are no seasonal or other varying rents for the buildings.
6. If there is no income from the operation of the building other than rents paid by the tenants.

Formerly Secret Testimony In Red Spy Probe Bared

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee today released heretofore secret testimony claiming that two Communist underground rings were operating simultaneously in the State Department in the 1930's.

The testimony was given Aug. 27, to Reps. Mundt (R-SD) and Nixon (R-Calif), committee members, by Whittaker Chambers, self-styled former Communist and now an editor of Time Magazine.

The congressmen said Chambers told them he had discussed with Alger Hiss, former State Department official, several persons who might be brought into the Red "cell" to which he said Hiss belonged.

One person mentioned, Chambers said, was Noel Field, then in the department's Western European division. Field was not further identified in the testimony.

"He (Hiss) made a number of attempts to draw Field in," Chambers said, "only to discover at the showdown that Field was connected with another apparatus."

The testimony appeared in a 1,300-page volume made public by the committee.

Chambers named Hiss as one of an "apparatus" of government officials with whom the Communist party worked during the 1930's. Chambers said he acted as a party liaison man with the government group to which Hiss belonged.

Chambers named Hiss as a Communist, and said Hiss knew he (Chambers) was a communist. Chambers said he was known to Hiss as only "Carl."

Hiss publicly denied Chambers' testimony, and at first declared he had never known Chambers. He later said he knew Chambers briefly as a free-lance writer who called himself George Crosley.

Dewey Seeking White House, Congress Team

By JACK BELL

ABOARD DEWEY CAMPAIGN TRAIN, Oct. 14—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey called today for "teamwork" between congress and the White House to "tackle the big job we have before us."

Heading for Kansas City and a major speech there tonight, the Republican presidential nominee told a Joplin crowd, "we must have an administration that will work with congress—that wants to work with congress."

Clear Policy Urged

Dewey said this country must "establish a foreign policy so clear that everybody—both the free world and the slave world—will know where we stand. They must know that we stand firmly for peace, that we are not going to weave, wobble, and wiggle."

Assistant Police Chief Walter Flenner estimated 3,000 persons were in the crowd.

Dewey's Kansas City talk is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. (CST.)

Paul Lockwood, the New York governor's secretary, said Dewey would "promise to bring to Washington a government that believes wholeheartedly in the American system of freedom; that knows where it is going; that practices teamwork; that has integrity; that is competent, and that has vision, faith and courage."

Pendergast Hit Due

This large order seemed unlikely to prevent Dewey from alluding indirectly to President Truman's connection with the Kansas City Pendergast organization.

ITU Found Guilty Of Contempt For Closed Shop Plan

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert today ruled that the International Typographical Union is in contempt of court because it has insisted on a closed shop in its contracts with newspapers.

The judge, who issued an injunction against the printers union last March 27, did not penalize the union, but ordered it to prove within 10 days that it is abiding by his injunction, based on the Taft-Hartley act.

Counsel for the National Labor Relations Board had asked the contempt citation, charging that the union had continued to insist on a closed shop; had discriminated against non-union men in hiring, and had supported strikes against newspapers in violation of the injunction.

Closed Shop Issue.

The union had insisted it was negotiating with newspapers in good faith, but Judge Swygert ruled it had "deliberately attempted since the issuance of the injunction" to continue "closed shop conditions in the newspaper industry."

The order specifically directs the ITU:

1. Not to encourage local unions in demands for a contract which would discriminate against non-union employes by setting certain standards of competency for them and none for union members;
2. Not to instruct local unions to demand that the "form contract" be signed by employers;
3. Not to support strikes, slowdowns and walk-outs in disputes brought about because the union

Cotton Men Told Efficiency Must Beat Cheap Labor

LUBBOCK, Oct. 14—(AP)—The only way that American cotton growers can compete with foreign cotton produced with cheap labor is to "use our labor as efficiently as humanly possible," E. D. White, assistant secretary of agriculture, asserted today.

White, who also is a cotton consultant in the economic cooperation administration, prepared a speech for the opening session of the second annual beltwide cotton mechanization conference here.

He recently returned from a tour of cotton growing areas in Asia and Africa and the major cotton consuming countries in Europe.

Farm Wages Higher

Farm wages in America are 12 times as high as in Egypt, he said, and an acre of cotton can be planted by hand in Egypt as cheaply "as we can here with the best of mechanized equipment."

"You may ask how American cotton growers compete with foreign cotton growers under such conditions," he continued. "The answer is—we cannot if we produce cotton by hand. That seems to be certain. There is no class of people in America that I know of that will be willing in the future to live as they would have to live

No Major Break In Food Prices Seen In Spite Of Some Drops In Meat Cost

By The Associated Press.

Don't get too hopeful that your food bill will drop sharply.

Some prices are lower than they were a month ago. Chain Stores in New York and the New England states this week announced further reductions of 2 to 20 cents a pound on many cuts of meat. Farm prices generally have dropped below a year ago—and wholesale indexes are headed downward.

But there has been no sharp break—and there is not likely to be because of government price supports.

High Spending Cited

Food industry experts also point to the high level of consumer spending at present prices. They contend that prices are not out of line with income.

Victor T. Norton, president of American Home Foods, Inc., told a food and beverage controllers meeting in New York that the same quanity of the same food that they took 23 per cent of personal income after taxes in 1935-1939, took only 21 percent of income in the second quater of this year.

The Institute of Food Distrbution pointed out that butter, which already is returning producers less than 90 percent of parity, soon will be supported indirectly by the government.

"Return of strength in markets responsible for most of the present panicky ideas will change trade judgements about food prices generally if consumer buying from retail grocery stores continues as large as justified by spending power," the institute added.

Support Prices Factor

Besides that, CCC support of farm prices will prevent corn, wheat, rice, dry beans, eggs, dairy products and other staple foods from dropping appreciably below bottoms the government is obligated to maintain through 1949.

Lakeland, Fla., reported that the first government estimate of citrus crops indicates consumers will get more oranges and less grapefruit this season. The outlook is for 2,000,000 less boxes of grapefruit than a year ago, and n increase of about 5,800 boxes of oranges.

Bad weather in California, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia is expected to result in a

Fear Of Price Drop May Cut Meat Production

By OVID A. MARTIN.
AP Farm Reporter.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Government forecasts of a boost in meat supplies—and lower prices—by late 1949 may be over-optimistic.

Made chiefly by the agriculture department, these predictions have been based largely on the fact that, at the moment, the relationship between feed prices and livestock prices is very favorable for producing meat animals.

This year's record grain crop has pulled down costs of feed, while livestock prices have remained relatively high.

Farmers Not Expanding.

But reports from the corn belt indicate that farmers are not jumping in to expand livestock production as much as the department had expected.

These reports say many farmers fear that prices may drop sharply by the time new meat animals can be produced, fattened and marketed.

This view was expressed by Carl C. Malone, Iowa State College economist, before an agriculture department farm outlook conference here this week. He was supported by several economists from other Western corn belt states.

Big Crop Goal.

Malone said he does not believe farmers will meet the government's goal of a 60,000,000-head 1949 spring pig crop. Such a goal musht be met if there is to be a big jump in pork supplies next year. It compares with this year's spring crop of 51,000,0000.

Malone said many farmers in Iowa—the major corn-hog state—prefer to put their corn under government price support loans and thereby escape any risk that might be involved in feeding the grain to livestock.

The department itself reported similar skepticism among corn belt cattle feeders in a report yesterday. It said the volume of beef cattle to be fed in the corn belt this winter may not be greatly different from a year ago because of a "cautious attitude among farmers and financing agencies."

Prices Uncertain.

The "uncertainty of future prices" of beef cattle was said to be the main factor back of this cautiousness.

The farmer uneasiness also has been expressed in heavy October marketings of hogs. The recent drop in feed prices had been expected to lead farmers to hold hogs for fattening to heavy weights.

But the reverse has been the case. Hogs are coming to market at considerably lighter weights than a year ago and in larger numbers.

Reply To Dewey Atomic Speech Set By Truman

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO

ABOARD TRUMAN CAMPAIGN TRAIN, Oct. 14.—(AP)—President Truman will reply to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey at Milwaukee tonight in a major speech on development of atomic energy.

Charles G. Ross, the President's press secretary, announced that the once-postponed address will be delivered at 8:30 p. m. (CST) in the Milwaukee ball park at the end of a second day of speechmaking in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Governor Dewey, in a talk at Phoenix, Ariz., about three weeks ago said that the "dead hand of government" alone could not do the job of developing atomic energy for civilian uses.

Mr. Truman cancelled plans to deliver an atomic energy talk at Philadelphia Oct. 5, and shifted his speech there to domestic issues.

More Time Sought.

Because of the importance of the subject, Ross said the President wanted more time to work on the address.

Mr. Truman declared today that he had "smoked out" the opposition and made them "come across with a me, too, program."

In the first of a series of rear platform addresses this morning, he told a hawling crowd at Mankato that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is a "recent convert" to bi-partisan foreign policy and renewed his plea that the people not "risk" his election at a time of world crisis.

He said he wanted to warn against recent "converts who would seek to curry favor" in or-

LYNDON JOHNSON IS RETURNING TO FACE INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE REPORTED PLANNING TO MAKE SEVERAL TALKS

By The Associated Press.

Lyndon Johnson, Democratic candidate for U. S. senate, returns to Texas to find himself facing an intensive campaign by Republican Cadidate Jack Porter of Houston.

Porter has the support of former Governor Coke Stevenson who lost the Democratic nomination to Johnson.

Congressman Johnson left Washington by plane late yesterday after calling Stevenson a political turncoat. The Dallas News said that Johnson was en route to Houston and was prepared to make "several" speeches between now and the general election Nov. 2.

Johnson's office in Washington said the congressman would make a statement.

Porter Attacks Johnson

In Dallas last night Republican Candidate Porter attacked Johnson's voting record and had kind words to say for Stevenson.

"Communism is a threat here and in the United States and throughout the world," Porter said. "If we do not fight against it, and effectively so, it will enslave us and the world."

He criticized the state Democratic convention at Fort Worth. "Everybody in Texas knows that legally elected delegates from all over Texas were kicked out," he said.

At the convention, he said, "changes of illegal voting, illegal countiing and fraud was made."

"I think, and I believe you think, that the fair thing to have done after Coke Stevenson's allegation of fraud, would have been not to get an injunction against a recount, but to insist that there are a recount," Porter said.

Johnson Raps Coke

In a statement yesterday in Washington Johnson said he was not surprised that Stevenson "has proved a turn-coat and repudiated the pledge he took when he entered the Democratic primary."

TCU Head Tells Oilmen Federal Rule Big Danger

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Texas Christian University's president today said the petroleum industry and private colleges face the same grave problem: Growing government domination and control.

Dr. M. E. Sadler, head of the Fort Worth school, said influential groups are deliberately planning to destroy the current balance between tax-supported and private colleges.

He spoke before the twenty-ninth annual conventioon of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Dr. Sadler said the Federal Euucation Commission would have from $53,000,000 to $638,000,000 appropriated annually for federal government sponsored expansion and operation of tax-supported institutions.

"As a matter of course, the commission assumes private colleges would not share at all in these vast appropriations," he said.

Pacific, Alaska Commanders Eye Defense Strength

TOKYO, Oct. 14.—(AP)—American commanders in the Pacific and Alaska discussed measures to prevent another Pearl Harbor in a series of top secret conferences with General Douglas MacArthur ending today.

The problem of Pacific defenses brought together key officers of the army, navy and airforce guarding the northwestern and far eastern frontiers.

Airforce Lt. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commanding the Alaska defenses, and Vice Admiral John L. McCrea, deputy commander of the U. S. Pacific fleet, met with General MacArthur for three days.

Informed sources confined information on the talks to two points:

1. The American commanders discussed with General MacArthur practical precautions against the possibility of another surprise attack.
2. The high-ranking officers attained a "fine spirit of cooperation

BRITAIN, CHINA ASK ISRAEL REPORT ON BERNADOTTE SLAYING

JEWISH AUTHORITIES BLAMED IN DEBATE ON HOLY LAND CASE

By EDWARD CU TIS

PARIS, Oct. 14—(AP)—Britain and China demanded in the security council today that Israel report quickly on what progress has been made in her investigation of the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte.

The two powers asked in a draft resolution that Israel also indicate "the measures taken with regard to negligance on the part of officials or other factors affecting the crime."

John J. MacDonald, U. S. consul and chairman of the three-power consular truce commission in Jerusalem, reported to the council that Jewish military Governor Bernard Joseph led "a deliberate Jewish campaign to discredit the truce commission and the acting mediator," Dr. Ralph Bunche of the United States. He said this campaign is developing along lines of the attack launched against Count Bernadotte, the mediator, before he was shot to death in Jerusalem last month.

Jewish Chiefs Blamed

Bunche himself charged before the council that Jewish authorities took insufficient measures to protect Bernadotte.

An Israeli spokesman announced Israel has asked to participate fully in debate on the Palestine issue scheduled for the political committee meeting to the general assembly tomorrow.

U. S. delegate Warren R. Austin, October president of the council, adjourned the Palestine session at 5:29 p. m. without action on the British-Chinese resolution. No date was set for the next meeting on Palestine in the council.

West Plans New UN Berlin Move; Meeting Friday

PARIS Oct. 14.—(AP)—Western power delegates met today on the Berlin crisis and authoritative sources said they were framing a joint demand for Security Council action to lift the Soviet blockade.

The council takes up the Berlin issue again tomorrow. Hope vanished for mediation outside the council with Russia's reported rejection of conciliation efforts by the so-called neutral states.

American, British and French delegates studied the Kremlin's answer to the neutral states' mediation efforts. The content of the Soviet note still was not made public, but Western sources said it set back the Berlin dispute to where it was six weeks ago.

Neutrals in Session.

The six "neutrals" in the Security Council also met this morning to discuss a resolution they may introduce during the debate, Argentine sources said.

Blockade Nerves Showing In Berlin, Correspondents Say

(This is the second of three stories written by the Associated Press staff in Berlin to describe the situation in that blockaded city.)

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY AND TOM REEDY.

BERLIN, Oct., 14.—(AP)—Imagine living in a city where, if you step outside certain boundaries, you will be arrested.

Imagine living in a city where all your food and other supplies are dependent on an air lift. Where you have lights a few hours in the morning and a few hours at night. Where simple, everyday items such as candles, are rationed. Where winter is coming on and the prospect for sufficient coal is dim. Where war is not out of the realm of possibility.

Blockade Nerves Show.

Blockade nerves are beginning to show in Berlin.

Irritability is perhaps the most frequent indication.

How will the Germans come through the winter?

All right, say the Western Allies. Better than they survived the 1944-45 winter when they were cold and hungry and pounded by bombs.

This view is given by American military government officials who parcel out the food and coal brought in by air since the Russians began the blockade squeeze last June.

Daily Ration Low.

The average German gets a basic daily ration of 1,608 calories. Heavy workers get a top ration of 2,985 and housewives, 1,680.

(The average American receives about 3,000 calories daily. The food of heavy workers, such as lumberjacks, may total up to 6,000. The average Briton received 2,800 calories daily in the first six months of 1948.)

Will the Berlin ration level be maintained throughout the winter?

W. T. Babcock, deputy U. S. commandant in Berlin and a former New London, Conn., police chief, thinks so.

Food administration men of the three Western powers are meeting now to plan an increase in caloric content of the German diet without increasing the weight.

Coal Big Problem.

The biggest problem is coal. Germans are going to have a mighty cold winter unless more planes can be added to the airlift. The old warming halls--public places where one came to get the chill out of his bones--probably will be revived.

This is the way the Western sectors rationed coal last winter:

A single individual got 500 pounds. There were five distributions of 100 pounds each A family of three got 900, and those with families of five or more got 1,100.

Babcock says that the reasonably good fall weather has enabled the laying by of a small cushion of coal, but far from enough.

So, Babcock adds, the coal ration may be less than half of 1947.

Airlift Brings Fuel.

At present airlift planes are bringing in about 4,500 tons of coal daily and altogether have delivered 144,000 tons. This is not enough to duplicate the 1947 ration.

Under blockade conditions the health of the German has remained surprisingly good. A British report said flatly that there has been "no apparent effect." One helpful factor is the abundance of drugs.

One of the major concerns is what to do about German business and industry. It has been clipped hard by the Soviet control of two of the city's largest power plants. Already it has retrenched by a third. Reserves of raw materials are being exhausted.

There has been some new unemployment, but not as much as had been expected.

None of these problems confronts the German in the Soviet sector. There the 1,200,000 can be supplied in the normal way from the Russian zone.

Staffs Cut Down.

The Americans and British, anticipating a pinch, started to cut their staffs months ago. The French have moved out all out essential personnel. The American military government staff has been cut from 2,600 to 1,200 since the first of the year. Gen. Clay expects the 1,200 to remain static. Dependents are down to a low of about 1,000.

Although the diet inclines toward monotony, food for the Allied people remains adequate and good.

The German has once in awhile looked away from his own troubles long enough to admire the Western Allies' willingness to accept austerity, too. They figure: "We're in this together and we'll stick it out."

(Tomorrow: Berlin becomes a city of rival ideologies.)

Industrialists Are Warned Output Nearing Demand

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Industrialists today were warned they soon may have to find additional customers abroad, develop greater domestic consumption or slow down industrial output.

R. A. Anderson, president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, told the opening session of the organization's twenty-ninth annual convention that productive abilities of European nations already is nearing pre-war proportions.

"It has been estimated by the department of agriculture that in 1949 European nations will be able to meet from its own production substantially 95 percent of its demands for goods," Anderson said.

Some observers, he added, predict industrial production, other than in Germany, this year will be above that of 1938, the last prewar year.

Anderson sad American industry is in a healthy condition today but warned there is an "imperative necessity of productive thinking in the solution of economic, social and political problems."

"We have already been through a depression of surpluses," the former state legislator said. "Yet during the years before 1939, even as today, the thinking, capable American business man had not concerned himself with the problem of what must inevitably happen to a nation who does not plan to use its production on some level other than current demand.

"As we continue to supply the demands of the American people with increasing rapidity and as the agricultural and industrial production of other nations recovering from war increases, somewhere there must be found an answer as to who will utilize the output of American manufacturing and agriculture."

Warren On Final Leg Of Campaign

ABOARD WARREN CAMPAIGN TRAIN, Oct. 14—(AP)—Gov. Earl Warren celebrated his twenty-third wedding anniversary today as his special train rolled through the Pacific Northwest on the final leg of his coast-to-coast stumping tour.

As the vice presidential candidate headed southward, he sounded a note of blunt criticism against President Truman and the Democratic administration.

The chief executive, he charged before a Spokane audience last night, was left with only the support of the Pendergast organization of his native Missouri.

Warren asserted the record of the Democratic party shows it is breaking open at the seems—split between the "Wallaceites" on the left and the "Dixiecrats" on the right and with cabinet members "coming in and going out" in a veritable parade.

Tigers, Lads And Bulldogs All See Action This Week

All three of Corsicana's football teams will see action this weekend, but only one, the Corsicana Tigers, will play on the home field.

Coach Boyd Payne's Bengals open their defense of the district title against the Hillsboro Eagles on Tiger Field Friday night at 8 o'clock.

The State Home Lads have a conference encounter with Blooming Grove the same night on the Lions' home field.

Navarro Junior College plays a non-conference game Saturday night in Weatherford, and is looking for its fourth straight win.

The chips are down for the Corsciana Tigers Friday night.

Hillsboro lost its first district game to Temple last week, 6-0, and would be practically out of the running if it lost to Corsicana Friday Corsicana, rebounding from its 27-7 debacle at the hands of the Palestine crew, is opening its district schedule. The Tigers have split even on their non-conference games, winning two and losing two.

State Home continues as one of the strongest teams in District 19-B, and is the heavy favorite to blast Blooming Grove, which lost to Italy last week.

High-scoring Navarro Junior College has nothing at stake but its prestige in the game with Weatherford Junior College Saturday night, but that is not likely to stop them. The Bulldogs felt frisky last week and downed Allen Academy 38-6 in Bryan.

District Supervisors Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District: Morris Crawford, chairman; W. C. Pearce, vice-chairman; Thad Jones,

In order to stop the washing of his land, Percy Varnell, Barry conservation group, laid out and sodded terrace outlets two years ago. These terrace outlets were made wide enough to be fenced and used for pasture. The sod is now well-established, furnishing grazing and Mr. Varnell is building four miles of terraces to empty on the sod. The outlets were kept mowed to hasten the spread of grass.

"This kind of land protection is needed by the farmers before they construct their terraces," stated W. C. Pearce, supervisor of the Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District. "As soon as moisture permits, co-operators should have their outlets staked out and secure their roots from one of the four available sources now in the district," continued Mr. Pearce.

Don Chandler, Eureka conservation group, has increased his yield of cotton from 3 1-2 bales to 6 1-2 bales on 18 acres of land by turnnig under hairy vetch. Last fall was the second fall for this piece of ground to be planted in vetch that was fertilized with 200 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate per acre each time. Mr. Chandler has put this piece of ground back into vetch this fall.

R. M. Cooksey, Corsicana Conservation group, whose farm is located 7 miles northeast of Corsicana, drilled in 20 acres of vetch and oats for seed production and soil improvement and 12 acres of Austrian winter peas for soil improvement last week.

W. W. Olsen, whose farm is east of Roane has had his diversion terrace outlet staked out so he could start sodding the area needing protection.

A. L. Bain, whose farm is located approximately 8 miles southeast of Kerens in the Kerens Conservation group plans to harvest Bermuda grass sprigs for his own use and for sale to the public. Bain has asked farmers to furnish their own sacks and to leave them at the farm. He will inform them when to come back for the roots. Other cooperators who are harvesting roots for sale to the public have asked that the same thing be done.

Peace, Harmony Should Begin At Home, Experts Say

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 14.—(Spl.)—Peace and harmony—like charity—begin at home Family harmony is the foundation of world harmony and peace.

Mrs. Eloise Johnson, extension family life education specialist of Texas A. and M. College, says that living together is like singing together, and family members are like members of a choir. A good choir achieves harmony through continued co-operation and practice. Each member of the choir has his own part and each blends with the others to make real harmony.

The family voices differ in pitch and volume, she points out. Each one must learn how to make the most pleasing tones possible and to sing with the rest of the family.

"You can measure your own signs of happy home living," she says. "Take stock of your family and home harmony occasionally. You may be surprised at the results."

Questions by which home harmony can be checked include: All famly members have a share in making decisions and plans; all members of the family share in the work of the home; the family has a plan for spending that helps each member learn the wise use of money; the family knows the importance of religion and attend Sunday school and church regularly, and the family is interested in community affairs and accepts responsibilities , in the community.

"Through practaice in co-operative planning, working, playing and praying together, the family can achieve harmony in home living, which is the strongest hope for individual and world peace," Mrs. Johnson concludes.

Dear Mr. Roberts:

Allow me to congratulate Sears, Roebuck & Company on its Southern Industrialization Sale featuring products grown and manufactured in Texas and the other Southern States.

ACCIDENT RATE

The fact that the accident rate among a given group of vehicle drivers can be cut as a result of a campaign for that purpose has been proved by the United States Army in the Philippines.

A dispatch from Manila gives figures which show a 50 per cent drop in traffic accidents and injuries. Only one traffic accident per 100,000 miles of army motor vehicle operation occurred during the first half of this year.

One recognized cause of motor accidents is the common habit of passing the buck. It is always the other fellow's fault, according to the participants in an accident. The driving public needs to be educated toward individual responsibility The driver who is always alert to the behavior of other drivers and of pedestrians is seldom involved in an accident. Eyes which miss nothing, on the road in front, on either side, or in the rear, together with a quick hand on the wheel and a sensitive foot on the brake, combine to make the best defense against accidents. A sense of individual responsibility is a prerequisite to safety.

STARVATION AHEAD

One of the major worries of governments is based on their belief that the world's population is increasing toward a point where the amount of land which is available for cultivation will no longer furnish enough food.

A Cleveland chemist, Dr. L. S. Roehm, believes that this doom may be averted by means of modern chemical discoveries. Modern breeding methods have for some time been making two ears of corn grow where one grew before. An improvement in quality and resistance to disease in corn and other grains has been brought about also. Dr. Roehm's hopes for further gains are founded on the recent application of chemicals such as pure ammonia, which, when added to soil, prompts quick growth of plant life.

The men in the laboratories will no doubt continue to perfect methods of growing more and better food products in a given area, to the end that larger numbers of people may be fed; if, that is, we can hang on to the soil we have left. We have been pouring it into the sea at a rapid rate and some of the chemists see getting necessary elements out of sea water as the only solution.

FINDING AMERICA

The highest tribute to any achievement is to have other people claim it as their own. This is one way to test the importance of the discovery of America by Columbus, supposing that its importance were doubted. Almost every nationality has maintained that America was discovered by one of their own long before Columbus. Danes, Irish, Welsh, French, Arabs, Chinese, Japanese, Malays and even Africans have urged that theirs is the nationality of the real discoverer. It is now known that Leif Ericson and other Norsemen came to this continent in the year 1000, but the knowledge of this fact did not reach the rest of Europe, so their discovery did not open the New World.

Apart from the Norsemen, it is not improbable that some humble sailors may have encountered the New World through accident, and either failed to understand the significance of their discovery, or else had their story drop out of sight. The tradition which reports the Labrador cod banks to have been found, before Columbus, by fishermen of the French town of Dieppe, may have something to it.

It is not enough, however merely to find a new world. It must be made known. Others may have preceded Columbus in his discovery, but nothing came of it. It was his voyage that added permanently to the world's geographical knowledge, and therein is the true glory of Columbus.

THE FOOL.

Thinking more of the need, and less of the cost,
The money he had at the moment was lost;
But he never complained at the way that it went,
He had done what he could and with that was content.

Some said that his heart was too big for his purse,
But he answered, he knew many faults that are worse,
And he'd rather be cheated than go to his bed
Still keeping the dollar some beggar had fed.

"I'd rather be helpful than selfish," said he.
"If sharing is folly, then folly for me!
Since no man takes money away when he dies,
While living I'd rather enjoy what it buys."

POOL OF UNEMPLOYED

A cause of worry among some persons is the present smallness of the pool of unemployed workers from which industry may draw labor for expansion. With about 61,300,000 persons unemployed, the number of workers without jobs stands at about 1,900,000, roughly three per cent of the labor force. Many in the jobless group are the permanenetly unemployed, whose potential labor is of small practical value.

It is being said in some quarters that this pool of unemployed is not big enough to meet the needs of contemplated expansion of arms production, much less to be a manpower safeguard against an emergency situation.

Is our industrial economy such that a substantial pool of unemployed persons is a requirement for national security? If so, we should begin looking for a way to change that requirement. It would be foolish to say that there will not be again a large number of unemployed, but it is not a desirable thing to wish for. It is not many years since the pool of unemployed was many times larger, but it was not a source of comfort at the time.

It is not good sense to worry because the number of unemployed is small. When the number shows signs of growing that will be something to worry about. Meanwhile if industrial reorganization is needed to make us safe without a pool of idle workers, let it be done.

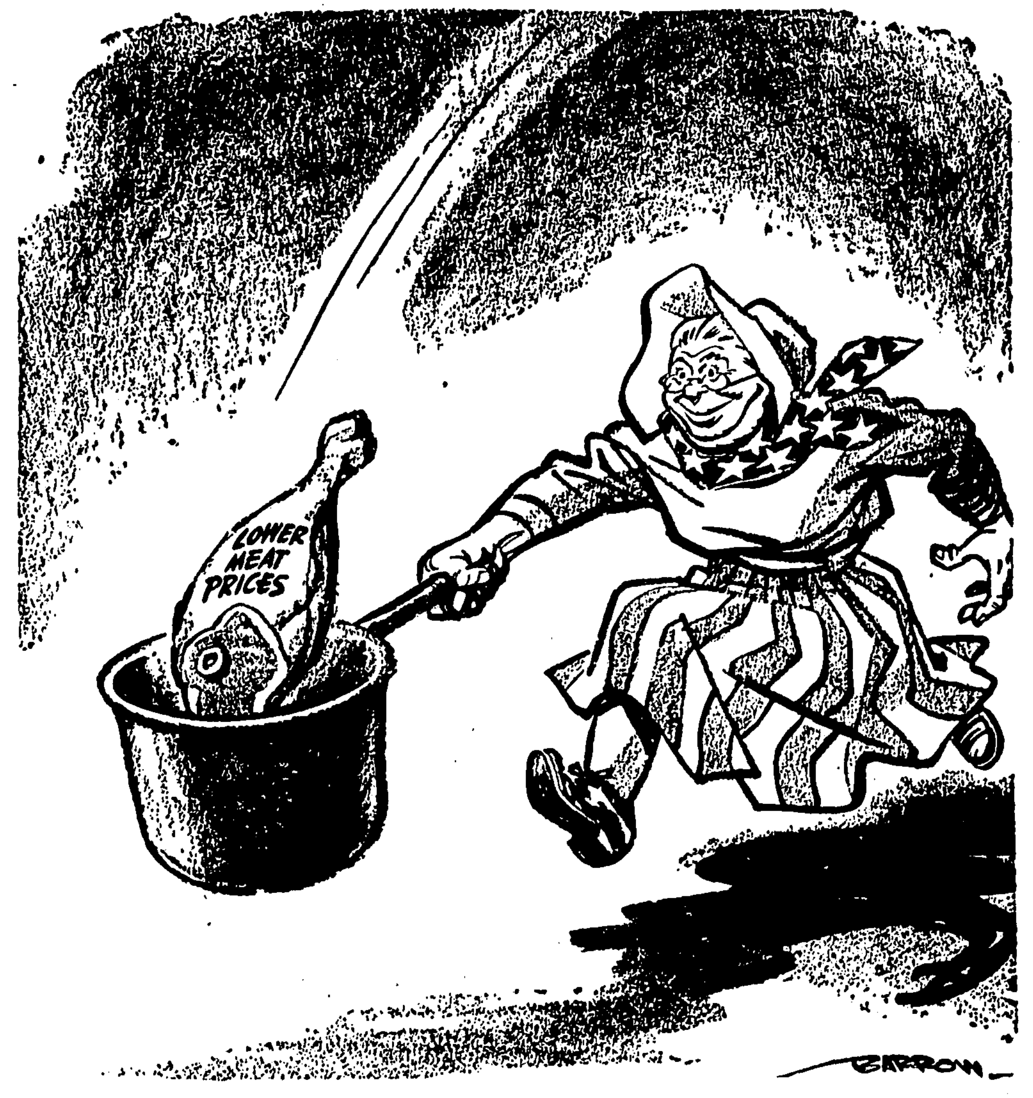
POT LUCK



NO MORE POOR DOCTORS

Only a rich man will be able to become a doctor in tomorrow's state of affairs, says Dean Currier McEwen of the New York University College of Medicine.

The average tuition fee in medical schools is $513 a year, the American Medical Association reports, and this represents only 25 per cent of the operating cost of these schools. The difference is made up from "endowments, gifts, university funds, and state and municipal tax sources."

College and university costs in general have been increasing alarmingly, tending more and more to deny a college education to students with small financiel resouces, just at a time when that handicap had been growing less serious. There is a further community threat in the possibility that special medical school financial troubles may reduce future numbers of doctors, already none too plentiful.

BROOKLYN BRIDGE

The most famous bridge in the United States is to be done over. This is Brooklyn Bridge, spanning the East River between Manhattan and Brooklyn. Built in 1884 by Washington Roebling, who carried out the designs of his famous father, John A. Roebling, the bridge has but two lanes now, and will be converted into a six-lane roadway.

Fortunately the appearance of the bridge will be maintained. The work is in the hands of David B. Steinman, a veteran bridge designer who is devoted to Brooklyn Bridge, and who wrote the life story of the Roeblings. He beleves that bridges should have beauty as well as use, and has toured the United States with illustrated lectures emphasizing this point.

Another noted bridge builder, the late Wilbur J. Watson of Cleveland, not only built bridges. He collected books and pictures on them, and never tired of looking over their airy spans. Laymen who admire lovely bridges might find this an engrossing hobby.

RECOVERY OF FRANCE

A sign that there are in France some trends toward regaining economic well-being and stability is found in the announcement that the port of Havre may soon become the most important petroleum port in the world. It is beginning to regain its old position in handling passengers and freight.

Le Havre was severely damaged by bombing during the war. Rebuilding of its damaged wharves is now the chief major work remaining to be done.

If the French government can attain sufficient solidity to keep the country on an even keel for a year or two, and in such condition that if it cannot aid industry and commerce at least the government will not hinder them with its recurrent crises, the economy of the nation might recover with surprising speed.

WORK FOR THE ATOM

A direct step toward atomic energy to useful work is soon to be started by the Atomic Energy Commission. A plant to be established in up-state New York will diverge from the military study of the physical force and lethel effects of the atomic explosion, and will be devoted to the search for a safe and practical method of converting into power the heat generated when atoms are split.

Power from the atom is not just around the corner, however. Several years will be needed to complete the research plant, and then it may be many more years, perhaps decades, before two major problems are solved. The first is how to take the heat from the atom-spitting machinery and transfer it to an engine where it can be put to work. The second is how, in the same process, to convert uranium into fuel for the machine, so that the necessary preparation of the atomic fuel will not have to be done separately, as now is the case.

Success of this project would provide us with a long-sought substitute for coal and petroleum as a source of power produced with heat. In the meanwhile satisfactory supplies of uranium should be discovered, our worries about exhaustion of petroleum resources perhaps could be forgotten.

How to Celebrate Your Wedding Anniversary

The "Dutch" Millers celebrated Tin Wedding Anniversary day. Everything had to be tin. even ate off tin plates, and coffee out of tin cups. hen it was time to drink a t to the "bride and groom," ame the final touch: ice cold cans. And come the Millers' niversary (Glass) I expect toasting them with sparer in bottles!

couldn't help thinking e was a lesson for married the way Dutch and his missus have got along together—in their policy of live-and-let-live, with never a criticism of each other's differences in taste.

From where I sit, it's due to two things: Temperance—as that moderate preference for beer suggests, and Tolerance—for their own differences of opinion—and for the tastes of others, whether applied to beer, to politics, or how to celebrate an anniversary.

CHICKEN CELERY CASSEROLE . . . Homespun recipe.

Church Supper Treats

By CICILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

I feel sorry for anyone who's never been to a church supper. The turkey, or chicken pie, or macaroni and cheese, or hot potato salad, or butternut or sour cream pie served are all dishes that can be made at home. But somehow or other the angels seem to inspire "the ladies" when they're cooking for a church event and I've never been to one at which the food didn't taste heavenly.

I'll never forget the kidney beans baked in maple syrup that I tasted —several summers back—at a Vermont church supper. Or the simple dish of homegrown beefsteak tomatoes cut in thick slices, beautiful beyond words on a milk glass plate, and seasoned beyond description with vinegar, sugar, fresh basil. And still another time the same tomatoes with another subtle seasoning—was it tarragon?

A reminder of all good church suppers has just come into my kitchen.. It's the Inglenook Cookbook, reently published by Harper and Brothers (New York, $2.00). The recipes in it were chosen from more than five thousand submitted by church people in response to a call by the Brethren Publishing House for reliable and wholesome cooking rules. The cookbook has the usual categories from breads to vegetables, inluding chapters on "International Cookery" and one simply called "One Dish."

Anyone who likes homespun recipes will enjoy this cookbook—even the way many of the recipes are written will give you great enjoyment. Take this one, for instance, contributed by Mrs. Lulu Sanger Dull, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Cinnamon Slaw

Ingredients—3 apples, 1-2 up sugar, 1-2 cup cinnamon candies, 3 cups cabbage, 1-2 cup mayonnaise Method—Cook diced apples, cinamon candies and sugar together, covered, for 5 minutes, and allow to get cold without lifting lid. When ready to serve add mayonnaise to shredded cabbage, then apples. Makes a beautiful salad.

If it's your job to cook, rather than to eat, at a church supper you'll be interested in the chapter on Group Cookery. Here are two recipes from it that could also be used for a home party.

Orange Glazed Sweet Potatoes

Ingredients: 4 1-2 pounds boiled sweet potatoes, 1 1-2 cups brown sugar, 1 1-2 cups white sugar, 2 tablespoons corn starch, 1 1-2 cups orange juice, 1-4 cup butter, 1 tablespoon salt.

Method—Arrange sliced sweet potatoes in buttered baking pan. Combine sugars and cornstarch; add orange juice. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add butter and salt. Pour over potatoes Bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes. Serves 20—Mrs. Pearl Hoover, Harrisonburg, Va.

Cheese Apple Crisp

Ingredients: 3 quarts apples, 1-2 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 1-2 cups water, 1 1-2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 1-2 pounds sugar, 2 cups flour, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 pound butter, 3-4 pounds grated cheese.

Method: Arrange sliced apples in shallow greased baking pans. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Add water and lemon juice. Combine sugar, flour and salt; work in butter to form a crumbly mixture. Lightly stir in grated cheese. Spread mixture over apples and bake in a moderate oven, 350°, until apples are tender and crust is brown and crisp. Serves 25.—Mrs. Pearl Hoover, Harrisonburg, Va.

Chicken and Celery Casserole

Ingredients: 2 cups chopped celery, 4 tablespoons chicken fat, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons salt, dash of pepper, 1 cup chicken-stock, 1-2 cup milk, 1-2 cup water drained from celery, 2 cups diced cooked chicken, 1 cup corn flakes, 2 teaspoons melted butter or margarine. Method: Cook celery until tender; drain, saving water. Heat chicken fat, stir in flour, salt and pepper. Gradually add chicken-stock, milk and water drained from celery, stirring until smooth. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Spread layer of chicken in greased casserole. Add layer of celery, another layer of chicken and so on. Pour sauce over top. Sprinkle with corn flakes that have been crushed into crumbs and mixed with melted butter or margarine. Bake in a moderately hot (400° F.) oven about 10 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Makes 6 servings.

Waller Speaker For Junior High PTA Meeting

Ray Waller, president of Navarro Junior College, discussed the interdependence of home and school for the first regular meeting and program tea of the Junior High School PTA Tuesday afternoon in the school library.

Mrs. E. D. Criddle Jr., president, was presiding officer. In the minutes read by the secretary, Mrs. Roy Bristow, mention was made of the new projector with sound track which is aiding the visual education program at the school. She urged the cooperation of all members of the association in assuring the success of the project.

Mrs. Dean Wood, publications chairman, urged the parents to subscribe to the national and state publications available to them, stressing the quality of the articles to be found.

Mrs. Albritton as leader for the day introduced Mr. Waller in his discussion of the inter-relationship of home and school, in which the speaker pointed out how important is the cooperation of home with school and how little school can do unless home has provided the right foundation.

Children Like Parents

Children, he said are like parents and reflect their home training. It is impossible, he declared, for the school to teach or to change ideas, ideals and morals where the pattern has been set before the child enters school.

Waller urged full cooperation between home and school.

For the tea which followed the general meeting, the refreshment table was laid in a mosaic cloth and centered with gold, bronze and red autumn flowers in a copper container. Copper appointments were used for the table. Mrs. W. H. Norwood presided at the coffee service, assisted by Mrs. J. D. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wareing Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary With Re-enactment Of Ceremony, Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wareing were the principal figures in the re-enactment of a wedding scene, Wednesday evening at the First Presbyterian Church where they were married October 12, 1898.

Mr. and Mrs. Wareing renewed their marriage vows, now fifty years old, at the altar where they were married, and then were honored guests for a wedding supper in the church annex prepared and served by circle representatives of the Women of First Presbyterian Church.

Eureka Minister Officiates

Before the re-enactment of the wedding ceremony, with the Rev. Henry M. Bailey of Patterson Memorial Church of Eureka officiating, Miss Sarah McMullan sang "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Miss Lena Mae McClure at the organ.

The altar was a bower of golden hued flowers, symbolic of the fiftieth anniversary. Brass urns held zinnias, marigolds and lupines, glowing in the light of myriad golden tapers in floor candelabra.

Golden satin ribbons roped off the pews reserved for members of the family.

Robert Davidson and Eugene Stewart, ushers for the wedding, lighted the altar tapers before the ceremony.

Congratulations Received

After the vows were repeated the couple received the congratulations of friends and members of the congregation before retiring to the annex where six long tables were laid in white linen cloths and adorned with chrysanthemums, zinnias, mairgolds and lupines in token of the golden anniversary occasion.

The Rev. Bailey offered the invocation, and Robert Davidson, seated at a table with the honored guests and members of their family, served as master of ceremonies. Covers were laid for more than ninety guests.

Places of honor were reserved for Mr. and Mrs. Wareing, Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Wareing, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Williams, Mr. Davidson, the Rev. Bailey, Mrs. Sam Spikes, Mrs. McDaniel, Mrs. George Hart, Miss Mary Sharp and Miss Patty Burke Wareing.

Original Invitation

Mrs. Spikes read to the assembled friends the original wedding invitation issued by Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sutherland to nuptials of their niece, Miss Hattie Bird McCammon, and Edgar Thomas Wareing Wednesday, October 12, 1898, at 3:45 o'clock in the afternoon at First Presbyterian Church, Corsicana.

Mrs. H. A. Juengerman read from the original newspaper report of the wedding, in which the young couple were said to have honeymooned in Dallas with the State Fair of Texas a secondary attraction.

For the ceremony fifty golden years ago, the Rev. E. E. Bigger was the officiating minister. Miss Charlsie Crawford sang, accompanied at the organ by a Mrs. Kirkes, wife of the minister of Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Ushers for that ceremony were Walter Guthrie and Henry Holman, both deceased.

Pictures Exhibited

Pictures of the bridal couple, made at their wedding, were exhibited.

Ornamenting their table Wednesday evening was a wedding cake, bearing the dates 1898-1948 in gold lettering. Napkins were lettered in gold, also, with their names, Edgar and Bird.

A supper menu of baked ham, beans, salads, hot rolls, coffee and cake squares, was served.

For the anniversary occasion Mrs. Wareing was attractively gowned in deep purple crepe with black accessories. Her flowers, worn in a corsage, were yellow gardenias and chrysamthemums. She carried a Testament, an heirloom once belonging to a grandparent.

Two guests, Miss Porter Rice and Mrs. McDaniel, had been present at the original ceremony.

Gift Presented

A gift presented to the couple by the congregation through Mrs. Will Miller, spokesman, was a golden hued blanket.

The guests for the occasion were dismissed with the Mizpah benediction.

The ceremony and supper climaxed their observance of the anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Wareing. Tuesday evening they and members of their family had dinner at the Corsican Inn, returning to the Wareing home for a dessert party. Throughout Wednesday they received floral and gift remembrances from their many friends in token of the anniversary.

A similar plan was endorsed by the State Democratic Convention last September in Fort Worth.

Delay Expected In Final Vote On Phone Rates

A safari into the mountains of Colorado on the part of one commissioner probably will delay a final vote by the city commission on the request of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. for a raise in local rates.

P. Travis Fullwood, street and sanitary commissioner who voted last week to increase the rates, is stalking an elk in the Colorado wilds and is not expected to catch him and get back in time for next Tuesday's session.

With Fullwood gone it would do little good to bring up the ordinance for a second reading, inasmuch as a 2-2 vote probably would result. Edgar Rittersbacher, water commissioner, and Fred D. Prince, finance commisioner, were others favoring the increase.

Mayor Hubert T. Braselton said Thursday he would not bring up the ordinance Tuesday unless Fullwood is present. Mayor Braselton and J. E. Davant Jr. voted against tre raise.

Officials said the ordinance could be read at the Nov. 2 meeting and be retroactive to Nov. 1. In its present form the ordinance is effective Nov. 1.

Indonesian Chief Resigns Position

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 14—(AP)—Dutch officials announced today the resignation of Hubertus J. Van Mook as governor general of Indonesia, effective Nov. 1.

(Government sources at The Hague said last night Van Mook's resignation had been accepted by the cabinet. The name of his successor was not announced.)

Reliable sources here said Van Mook had resigned chiefly because he had been bypassed and not informed of Dutch government actions in regard to Indonesia during the past two weeks.

Republican spokesmen said the resignation indicated a Dutch swing to the right. They said that although they were concerned with policies rather than individuals, it was assumed the United States was supporting Van Mook's policies rather than those of rightist elements in The Hague.

The spokesmen said peaceful settlement of the Indoesian question will be more difficut with Van Mook out of the picture.

Negro Armed With Shotgun Threatens Sheriff David Castles, Jailer Allen

An armed Freestone county negro, believed to be insane, surrendered to officers Wednesday after threatening the lives of at least four persons—including Sheriff David Castles and Jailer J. C. Allen.

The two officers were called to Richland shortly after noon by a motorist who reported seeing the negro marching two other negroes down the highway, a 12 guage shotgun pointed at their backs. The motorist was threatened when he stopped to investigate.

Sheriff Castles said he and Allen were unarmed when they drove up to the armed man and stated their identities.

"I'm the sheriff," Castles had stated.

"I don't care who you are; don't come a step closer," Castles quoted the negro as saying.

Leveled Gun at Officers.

The negro clicked the safety on the gun—later found to be loaded with No. 2 buckshot—and leveled it at the two officers, who immediately leaped to safety. Castles said he jumped back into his car and onto the floor boards, retrieving a pistol from the glove compartment. Meanwhile, Allen darted to the rear of the vehicle.

The negro continued marching the other pair on up the highway. The officers followed:

It developed later at a Richland store that the armed negro was seeking to get payment of a debt from one of the two negroes. The armed one then surrendered after receiving a blank check from the negro, identified as Brady Henly.

Negro Arrested.

Castles said he advised the shotgun toter again that he was the sheriff and his pistol was there to prove it. After turning over the shotgun, the negro was handcuffed and brought to the county jail.

Henly said he was picking cotton near Richland when the negro came up and pointed the shotgun at him. The other negro said he just went along to "keep him from shooting" Henly.

Sheriff Castles said insanity proceedings would be taken against the negro.

Jester Suggests He's Fox Among Political Hounds

PALESTINE, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Gov. Beauford Jester, visiting Camp Kenley near here during the bench show and field trials of the Texas State Fox and Wolf Hunters Association, suggested his was the role of "the fox among some Texas political hounds."

In an address before the annual association bench show, the governor said a boy, 12-year old Sonny Fletcher, had asked him if he had any dogs. "I told him I didn't have any, but that the hounds were after me," Jester said.. "It's not the Walkers, Julys or Triggs which are after me, but its the crossbreeds, those Dixiecrats. And, of course, every two or three years you have those house dogs, the Republicans, barking at you."

Tiger Exes Still Need $725 For Scoreboard Here

The Tiger Exes announced that $325 had been donated as of Wednesday morning toward the purchase of an electrical football scoreboard for Tiger Field.

The Exes organization has contributed $200 of that out of their funds, and the remainder came from donations from Corsicana citizens.

The Wednesday morning total still left the Exes with $725 to go before they can purchase the ornate, utilitarian scoreboard for installation.

Price of the 27x8 foot structure, which is to be purchased from the Southwest Manufacturing Co. of Greenville, is $1,050.

Tom Paschal, who is taking donations for the scoreboard, looked the scoreboard over this week, making a special trip to Greenville to do so.

The board is completely electric, and will contain a time clock, spaces to show the quarter, the down, the yards to go for a first down, and the names of the home team and visitors. It will be run from a switch in the pressbox.

Mose Blumrosen Is Removed From Local Rent Board

Mose Blumrosen, Navarro County Republican leader has been removed from the Rent Advisory Board, and the local unit has been split into two separate boards, it was announced Tuesday.

Blumrosen, who several weeks ago had what could be described as a violent argument with a woman representative of the regional office, was notified by J. Walter White, acting housing expediter, that he had been removed to establish a tenant-landlord balance.

C. J. Lockhart, area rent director, announced that the old board had been dissolved, although Blumrosen was the only member removed. Blumrosen was informed that there was a preponderance of landlords on the board, and that under the new effort to strike a balance a tenant had been added to the Navarro-Ellis county board.

Smith Added To Board.

O. S. Smith, personnel director of the Corsicana Cotton Mills, a resident of 1604 Ficklin Ave., has been added to the board as the tenant representative.

Lockhart said the area now has two boards. One will serve Navarro and Ellis counties, the other will serve Kaufman.

Members include:

Kaufman County—K. W. Griffin, landlord, Terrell; C. E. Harvey, Kaufman, O. A. Olson, Kemp and Lewis Toth, Terrell, public interest representatives; John M. Beaty, Terrell, tenant.

Navarro-Ellis counties—Wm. T. Allen, Waxahachie, landlord; Drew Gillen, Blooming Grove, Joe Sheppard, Kerens, Tom D. Watson, Midlothian, public interest representatives; Smith, tenant.

Smith, Toth and Beaty are newcomers to the rent advisory board work, the others having served on the old board.

Lockhart said the first meeting of the local board would be held Oct. 20, at which time Martin E. Edwards of Dallas, regional advisory board coordinator, will organize the setup. A similar meeting will be held at Terrell Oct. 19 for that board.

Smith said Tuesday that he had not been formally notified of his appointment, but that he would serve.

Officials have long sought a balanced board to meet requirements. This calls for a 1-1-3 representation which the local board now has.

Members of the local board will probably—or may not—learn at the Oct. 20 session whether they have any authority, the chief matter discussed at the last meeting.

It also was announced by Lockhart that the U. S. government is ready to proceed with litigation against two Corsicana residents for alleged violation of the rent control act. He said a special investigator visited the area some weeks ago.

Food For School Lunch Program

Already delivered since school started have been 30,000 pounds of irish potatoes, 40 gallons of honey, 165 thirty-pound cartons of dried peaches and 70 forty-five pound cases of dried eggs also orange juice, dried apples, cheese, canned apple sauce and others.

Watson said the outlook in Navarro county now is that potatoes will be available during the entire nine months. The food is supplied through the U. S. Department of Agriculture'

Poor Old Santa Finding It Hard To Believe In Self, Has Many Troubles

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The question this Christmas isn't whether the children will continue to believe in Santa Claus.

It's whether Santa Claus can go on believing in himself. Every year he must be finding it more difficult.

No figure of modern times—except perhaps Mother Goose—has had a harder time keeping his self-confidence than the fun-loving Saint. He has more critics than a French premier, and season after season he is finding himself cabined, crimped and confined by more restrictions.

1947 Tough Year

Take 1947—a really tough year for Santa. Psychologists issued stern warning that he could derange a child's whole personality by giving him the wrong gift.

And the Saint was brought under municipal ordinance. In one place he was forbidden to show up at department stores for his usual pre-season warmup if he had taken a shot of rock-and-rye to guard against pneumonia. In some cities he had to have his beard fireproofed. In others they turned the flit gun on the old man—his whiskers had to be 99 and 44-100 percent pure.

The approach of the 1948 season finds new hurdles, hedges and barriers in the path of the red-suit man of good will. Mr. Claus must promise to quit promising the moon to children. And his voice is being de-boomed. The 1948 Santa no longer wil bellow—"Ho- ho! ho!" he will titter—"tee, hee, hee."

New Training School

These new points were decided on this week at a one-day training school for Santa Clauses held at—of all places—the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Nineteen Kris Krinkles showed up—most came by taxicab—as well as a number of child psychologists and parent education experts.

The conferees, all former children themselves, pretty well agreed that for years Santa's booming laugh has been so loud it startled many lisping small fry. So that Christmas tradition is out. And the Santas present, in order to get a gilt-edged diploma certifying they were fit to deal "intelligently and sympathetically" with children also had to pledge "to make no promises unless they can be fulfilled."

The prospect for 1949 and the years to come looks even for Santa Claus.

Must Mend Past

Dear old Sasta is going to have to mend his past—and perhaps change his clothing. Why do you suppose he wears that red suit? Did yon know that Santa Claus isn't merely the patron Saint of virgins and children? He's also the adopted patron Saint of seafaring men, thieves, and—yes,—Russia.

What is he doing up there at the North Pole anyway? Just toying around? This fellow Claus will bear a lot more looking into He's got plenty to explain—this mysterious stranger, who comes and goes in the night.

trict where Mr. Truman purged a Democratic congressional candidate in 1946 only to have his choice lose to a Republican, the New York governor was expected to bear down on ballot box integrity.

Senator Kem (R-Mo) tried unsuccessfully for months to win a congressional investigatios of Attorney General Clar's handling of the Kansas City vote frauds.

Missouri Stops Set

Dewey scheduled Missouri stops at Joplin, Carthage, Monett and Springfield before his late afternoon arrival in Kansas City.

He spent the day in Oklahoma yesterday, largely on a mission that even some of his friends thought was futile—an attempt to elect Rep. Ross Rizley, Republican, as the next Senator from Oklahoma.

In his trip across Oklahoma, Dewey talked mostly of world peace—with the clear implication that the chances of avoiding war should be much better if the Republicans gain control of the White House in November.

In Oklahoma City, he told one of the largest crowds of listeners in his campaign—estimated at 20,000 by Police Captain Tom Webb—that if he is elected he will free the government of the "shackles of confusion and defeatism and despair."

STATE ISSUES

Of the three states considering labor measures, two—Arizona and Massachusetts—also dealt with the subject in the 1946 election.

Closed Shops Outlawed

At that time, Arizona adopted a constitutional amendment to outlaw closed shops; so did Nebraska and South Dakota. Arizonians are being asked by referendum this year to approve legislation to put the ban into effect.

Massachusetts voters have three referendums on the ballot. One — a "right-to-work" measure—would prohibit agreements which exclude any person from employment because of membershiu, or non-membership, in a labor union. Another would require that labor union officers be elected by secret ballot at least once a year. The third would prohibit all strikes except those voted by a majority of the union's membership.

In New Mexico, voters will be asked to ballot on an "open shop" amendment which would prohibit denying employment to any person because of membership in, resignation or expulsion from a labor organization, o. refusal to join a union.

Demos Refuse To Say If Donations May Aid Morrow

TEMPLE, Tex., Oct. 14—(AP)—The Temple Telegram published a story today saying the National Democratic committee refused to say whether Wright Morrow will be retained because of campaign contributions.

The newspaper said its Washington correspondent was unable to find out the amount of campaign contributions given or promised by the State Democratic National Committeeman from Houston. The correspondent also was unable to find out the contributors of Byron Skelton of Temple, a State Loyalist leader and proposed successor to Morrow.

The Telegram said that the National committee headquarters said earlier that no action would be taken on the proposed replacement of Morrow until after the general election.

The September State Democratic convention passed a resolution asking the National committee to replace Morrow with Skelton.

der to further their own "political ambitions."

Senator Ball Attacked.

Attacking Senator Joseph H. Ball again, he called him a former "liberal" who was "converted to reaction."

"You know I warned the people of this country not to risk entrusting their destiny to recent converts to the principles of our foreign policy," Mr. Truman said.

He called them "converts who seek to curry favor by putting on the mantle of such principles in order to further their own political ambitions."

He took off the gloves last night at St. Paul with a rescription or Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as a maker of "mealy mouthed political speeches" and a user of empty "catch phrases" like "unity" and "efficiency."

And, in a speech sprinkled with new deal phrases, he declared that the Republicans had changed Senator Joseph H. Ball from a fighter "on the people's side" to one of the "champions of reaction."

"Fighting Liberal."

He called for the election of Minneapolis Mayor Tubert Humphrey to Ball's senate seat as a "fighting liberal."

Mr. Truman will climax a heavy day of speechmaking today with a major address at 8:30 p. m. (SCT) in Milwaukee.

At Madison, the Wisconsin capital, the President leaves his train for a drive to the University of Wisconsin Stock Pavilion and another speech.

In his St. Paul rally, one of the sharpest talks of his campaign, the President invited all liberals to fight with him for "the right kind of unity" under Democrats.

Dewey Not Mentioned.

While he didn't call Governor Dewey's name, he linked him with "recent converts" to a bi-partisan foreign policy he said were preaching "me too, but I can do it better."

An audience which overflowed the 3,600-seat hall whooped it up in approval as he declared the GOP liked the government so well they wanted to "buy it."

He pulled foreign policy directly into the campaign, asserting Gov. Dewey supplied no unity on that front as late as 1944. Mr. Truman said Republican leaders were "mainly isolationists" in 1940 with "half the world in flames."

Plane Output Cited.

The President said Gov. Dewey in 1940 said production of 50,000 airplanes a year was "fantastic" and the nation produced 100,000.

"He had so little foresight about past-war problems," Mr. Truman continued, "that he felt we could completely demobilize our military strength the minute that hostilities ceased."

"Here again, as in so many other cases," Mr Truman continued, "the American people should consider the risk of entrusting the destiny to recent converts who now come along and say "me too, but I can do it better."

He said Senator Ball showed "fanatic zeal in helping to push the shameful Taft-Hartley law through the congress."

Democratic national committee headquarters had no comment.

However, the News' story from Washington said "Democratic national headquarters was getting alarmed over mounting Texas support for Republican condidates."

News For Porter

DALLAS, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The Dallas Morning News in an editorial today anounced its support for Jack Porter, Republican candidate for the U. S. senate.

In the August Democratic primary the News supported Coke R. Stevenson over Lyndon Johnson.

After reviewing the court battle between Stevenson and Johnson in which Johnson blocked Stevenson's effort for a investigation of alleged voting irregularities in South Texas, the News said:

"The News, which suported Stevenson, has hesitated to throw its support to Porter while there was a chance of Stevenson obtaining a fair inevstigation. Now, in view of Johnson's actions that have cut off this opportunity, the News sees no course left open than support of the Republican nominee."

DALLAS, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Discussing the outcome of the general election, Republican Senatorial Candidate Jack Porter said here last night that "it might be close, or I might win by a landslide.

Porter campaigned here yesterday afternoon and last nght. He left for East Texas today. He will speak at Marshall tonight at a meeting of citizens of eight East Texas counties.

Friday night he will be in Amarillo on a program that will include Harold E. Stassen, speaking on behalf of the GOP presidential slate of Dewey and Warren.

in order to produce cotton by hand at a price necessarily to compete with cotton grown by the cheap labor in foreign lands.

"It would not only be a life of drudgery but also one of hard times. So there seems to be only one way out. That is, to use our labor as efficiently as humanly posible. This means fewer hands on hoe handles and fewer backs weighted down with pick sacks.

Much Progress Made

"It is true that much progress has been made in cotton mechanization since the advent of the saw gin and the Georgia stock plow. But much remains to be done. Particularly is this true with respect to hoeing and picking. Requirements for hand labor in these two operations are still tremendous. The solution constitutes a great challenge to the ingenuity of our best engineers, chmists and plant breders.

Coton breders have "accepted the challenge of mechanization," Dr. J. W. Nely, plant breeder from Stoneville, Miss., asserted in another prepared talk. He said it would be necessary to improve the quality and characteristics of cotton "if cotton production is to continue to be a profitable enterprise, and if the American cotton industry is to survive the competition of synthetic fibers and foreign growths."

High Yields Needed

High cotton yields are necessary for maxium profis, Dr. J. E. Adams, head of he Agronomy department at Texas A. and M. College, said in a prepared speech. e discussed the need for insct control, watr requirements and crop rotation problems as related to mechanization.

Authorities on the cotton industry ,the farm equipment industry, the department of agriculture and land grant colleges of the 18 cotton states were slated to attend the three-day conference.

A dmonstration of the complete mechanical production of a cotton crop—disposal of crop residue, land preparation, planting, thinning, weed control, insecticide dusting, defoliation and harvesting by mechanical strippers—was to be a feature of the conference.

Farmers Share Of Food Dollar May Be Less In '49

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The farmer may get a slightly smaller share of the consumer's food dollar next year.

His cut, the agriculture department said today, seems likely to average 50 cents, compared with 52 indicated for this year and the peak of 54 cents in 1945 and 1946.

The farmer's portion still will be above the pre-war average of 40 cents.

The department said charges for marketing and processing farm food products have reached new record highs and are expected to show little or no decline next year.

Labor costs were said to make up about one half of these costs, and further boosts in transportation charges were predicted.

The department said retailers' profit margins for meat appear somewhat higher that prewar on a cents-per-pound basis, but much lower percentage-wise because of the higher prices.

To Notify Locals.

4. To notify all locals that the union is in contempt of court and that the International cannot support any local that insists on contract terms violating the terms of the injunction—insisting on the "form contract" and discrimination against non-union members.

Today's ruling was expected to have widespread effect throughout the newspaper industry and will clear the way for further negotiation of the year-old strike in Chicago.

The judge's contempt ruling today likely will be tested in higher court and by agreement may go directly to the United States Supreme Court.

Four officers of the union also were cited. They are Woodruff Randolph, president; Larry Taylor and Elmer Brown, vice-presidents, and Don Hurd, secretary-treasurer.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association office in Chicago said there now are 46 ITU strikes against newspapers—38 in the United States, seven in Canada and one in Alaska. The oldest in the series dates back to Nov. 11, 1945.

Partial Victory Seen.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The AFL International Typographical Union today claimed a partial victory in the federal court decision holding the union in contempt for continued Taft-Hartley law violations. The union said it will appeal.

Henry Kaiser, an ITU attorney, said the court declined to grant a government request that the ITU be ordered to cease making strike benefit payments and giving other support in the 11-month walkout of printers against Chicago Daily newspapers.

NLRB General Counsel Robert N. Denham had made such a request in pleadings to Judge Luther M. Swygert in Indianapolis. Kaiser said however that Judge Swygert's decision points out that the Chicago ITU local offered Chicago publishers contract terms similar to those granted the union's local in New York City by publishers there.

According to Kaiser the court ruled there was no clear or convincing evidence that the New York contract violated the terms of a prior court injunction against Taft-Hartley violations.

Two Corsicana Presbyterian Churches Talk Federation; Vote Scheduled Soon

Corsicana Presbyterians are writing another chapter in the religious history of Navarro County.

The matter of federation between the First Presbyterian Church, U. S. and the Third Avenue Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. has passed beyond the stage of preliminary discussion and is ready for the congregations to act, according to letters which have been sent to members of each this week.

The session of the First Presbyterian Church has invited members of the Third Avenue congregation to meet with them at the morning service Sunday to hear Dr. Robert F. Jones, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Fort Worth present the matter of federation. The Fort Worth church is a federated one.

Vote Is Scheduled

A separate congregational meeting has been recommended for Oct. 24 at which time members of the two congregations will vote by written ballot on the matter of federation. The committees recommended that at least 75 percent of the votes cast must be in favor of federation before it shall be adopted.

In the letter sent out to members of the First Presbyterian Church, it was written:

"We see no good reason why the two churches should not federate. We are both Presbyterian. Basically our beliefs, customs, practices and forms of church government are the same. Our creed, confession of faith, catechism and book of church order are, in the whole, identical. A federation between two churches, unlike a merger or consolidation, does not cause either church to lose its entity or sever its relationship with its Presbytery, synod or general assembly. As a part of a federated church, we would still belong to our respective Presbyteries, synods and general assemblies, owing allegiance both religious and financial to them.."

List Six Reasons

The joint committee listed six reasons why they believed "that the two churches can better serve our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, by federating." Among them was, "Federation will enable us to build a Presbyterian church that will take its rightful place in the religious life of Corsicana as it will have adequate physical plant facilities to do the type of Christian educational work which is needed.."

Under the plan of federation as it now stands, there would be one church, the suggested name of which shall be the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Corsicana. The church will be a corporation.

All properties of both churches shall be transferred to the new church.

The plan of federation reads:

"The Westminster Presbyterian Church, by action of its officers, shall erect a physical church plant as quickly as possible, that will adequately meet the needs of the church. All existing physical properties of both churches, save and except the educational building of the Third Avenue Presbyterian Church, shall be demolished; and a new sanctuary erected adjoining that educational building. The sanctuary shall be on the ground floor. We suggest a basement assembly room be built and a recreational building, with a dining hall and kitchen, to be erected from the salvage material obtained from the demolition of present buildings, which shall be located at such place as the officers deem it most advantageous and desirable. Until the new sanctuary is erected, the church services will be held in the First Presbyterian Church building.."

A suggested constitution and by-laws for the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Corsicana has been drawn and copies sent to members of the congregations.

Report Submitted

The report of the committee of the First Presbyterian Church, signed by W. D. Ralston, J. M. Dyer, Mrs. J. E Craig and Mrs. T. Walter Erwin Jr., carried with it the following dissent submitted by A. F. Mitchell:

"After careful and thorough study of the matter of Church federation, and federation between the Third Avenue Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., and the First Presbyterian Church, U. S., I am convinced that such a federation is neither expedient nor propitious at this time. Should the issue be forced now, instead of the existing two (2) churches, there would be three (3) groups, namely, the Federated group, the U. S. A. group and the U. S. group.

"Therefore, I recommend: That the session of the First Presbyterian Church, U. S., order a discontinuance of all study and discussion relating to federation for a period of five (5) years; that the session of the First Presbyterian Church, U. S., order a dissolution of its committee.

Dr Matthew H. Arnold is pastor of the Third Avenue church. The First Presbyterian church has been without a regular pastor for about a year.

hope Bramuglia would make public at that time both the Russian and the joint Western answers to the mediation efforts. Western informants said the delegates of the United States, Britain and France had not received a written copy of the Soviet reply and so far depended on an oral fill-in by Bramuglia.

Argentine sources said Bramuglia believed the dispute had reached the stage of "face-saving" and that the Russians could still be persuaded to lift the blockade, but could not be forced to do so.

Back Where Started.

Bramuglia confirmed that the Berlin dispute was back where it started in the Security Council, but said a solution still may be found.

"Both parties in the conflict," he said in an interview, "maintain their known positions. The Western powers insist on the lifting of the Berlin blockade as the starting point, while Russia says the Big Four foreign ministers and not the Security Council should discuss the matter."

He insisted that he still believes there is some small chance the neutrals could come up with a solution of their own—"just and acceptable"—to the main powers through a resolution in the Security Council

Mediation Abandoned.

The six "neutrals" of the council abandoned their efforts to mediate. Bramuglia called the council meeting after receiving a Russian reply to the neutrals on what terms would be acceptable to Moscow.

Authoritative sources said the Russian answer rejected mediation, insisted the Berlin issue was outside the authority of the Security Council, and asked that negotiations revert to the Aug. 30 four-power Moscow agreement. Under this the Russians would raise the blockade, and the Western powers would withdraw their currency from Berlin, leaving only Soviet zone currency under four-power supervision.

Western power spokesman did not comment on whether this might represent a retreat from additional Soviet demands made at the Berlin level of the negotiations, on which the talks broke down. The Russians in Berlin demanded the right to control air traffic to Berlin as part of the currency control.

West Rejects Plan.

The neutrals—Argentina, Canada, Belgium, Colombia, Syria and China—reportedly had proposed lifting of the blockade simultaneously with the calling of a four-power foreign ministers council, meeting on Germany.

The United States, Britain and France, holding the blockade a menace to world peace and within the province of the Security Council, have contended that it must be lifted before a foreign ministers meeting can be convened.

Plea For Better Understanding In Russian Crisis

A plea for patience with the efforts of the United Nations in its job of trying to form a federal government for the world was sounded by Dr. Robert W. Goodloe, SMU professor of Church History, Thursday at the meeting of the Corsicana Civitan Club.

"Let us be patient with the U. N.," Dr. Goodloe said, "remembering that it took the 13 original American colonies quite a while to agree on a central government."

Goodloe's speech was also a plea for a better understanding of the kind of nation Russia is. "People in Russia do not understand what we mean by a genuine 'democracy'," he asserted. He called attention to two recent statements on the part of Andrei Vishinsky: that the Russia and the western powers do not interpret the events happening about them in the same way, and that it is not impossible for the two different ideaologies to get along together if they have understanding.

"We speak of, and abide by, the rule of the majority," Goodloe quipped, "except when it comes to the election of a United States Senator."

We are proud of our government, and we speak with abhorrence of the "absolute vote" he said, yet Rhode Island blocked the formation of a central government under the Articles of Confederation, by its vote alone.

Goodloe, who is conducting meetings this week at the Eleventh Avenue Methodist Church, was introduced by Rev. J. Morris Bailey, the pastor. Bailey and Dr. S. H. Burnett were on the program committee presenting the speaker.

Ed Wendorf and Frank Williams were named on the program committee for the Oct. 21 session.

are groups seeking to eliminate United Nations influence from their areas of Palestine."

Aubrey S. Eban, Israeli representative, told the council his government has arrested "over 200 members of the organization believed responsible" for the assassination of Bernadotte and French Col. Andre Serot.

T. F. Tsiang of China spoke briefly. He associated China with Britain in support of the draft resolution.

"It unquestionably was a well planned, carefully timed assassination aimed directly at the life of the mediator," Bunche, now acting mediator, told the coucil.

Bernadotte was killed in Jerusalem Sept. 17 by a group from the Jewish Stern gang.

Britain and France were reported ready to submit a resolution calling for tougher U. N. action against Jews and Arabs breaking the truce. The council earlier voted, 8 to 0, to consider means of more strict enforcement of the truce. Syria, the Ukraine and Russia abstained, with Syria and Russia contending Bunche's report contained nothing new.

Bunche, now interim mediator, described the murder of Bernadotte. He said the crime was acknowledged by the "Fatherland Front," an arm of the Stern gang.

Bunche said Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok had told him of arrests made and of measures taken by Israel against terrorist groups, but not of the investigation proper.

The Israeli representative, Aubrey E. Eban, took notes as the acting mediator spoke. He sat beside Faud Amoun of Lebanon. They and Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt were invited to sit in on the hearing.

Warren Austin of the United States, October council president, also invited a member of the Arab higher executive to the hearing, but none appeared. The Arab higher executive boycotted the hearings last July, saying "we will not sit while you recognize the provisional government of Israel."

Bunche's report, made Sept. 30, was read to the council. It recommended stronger measures to insure safety for truce observers and better compliance from Jews and Arabs in keping the peace.

Bunche, an American negro, succeeded Count Folke Bernadotte after a group from the Jewish Stern gang killed the Swedish nobleman in Jerusalem Sept. 17.

and coordination" among the army, navy and airforce. This was described as an outstanding achievement.

Agreement to work together in the Pacific followed the general pattern of unified defense set forth by Secretary of Defense Forrestal. The Tokyo talks got down to the practical application which must take place in the field in the event of war.

Sources reviewing the conferences made no reference to the first midwinter amphibious landing attack exercise in the far north. It will be held next February in "the Alaska area," Pacific fleet headquarters announced yesterday.

Zion's Rest PTA Uses Kites In Membership Drive

Ignoring the season, the Zion's Rest PTA is indulging in a kite-flying competition.

Using tiny kites as symbols in its current membership campaign, the association has erected a scene with R. C. Marshall, the principal, and all home rooms represented as doll figures. Each class room is flying a kite to a height measured by percentage of membership in the PTA. Above the scene is the legend, "Fly Your Kite Higher."

The membership campaign is going forward under the leadership of Mrs. E. A. Harwell, membership chairman, and Mrs. T. V. McMullan, president. It will be terminated with the forthcoming meeting October 26.

The association is also busy with plans for a Fun Night project. Food will be served after 6:30 o'clock the evening of Friday, October 22, and booths will be opened at 7 o'clock.

Hamburgers, hot dogs, coffee cold drinks, candies, cakes and pies are to be served in the lunnchroom. A negro minstrel is being planned for the Fun Night project, as well as such features as a grab bag and fish pond. A special booth, to be arranged with the cooperation of the most attractive girls of the community, will provide kisses for men only, according to association leadders.

Governor Endorses Local Store's Program

Governor Beauford H. Jester has applauded the "Made in the South" program sponsored by the local Sears store. The program is dedicated to the platform formulated by the Southern Governor's Conference of 1939.

Now on display at the local store is a letter from Governor Jester. In it he congratulates and supports the company's regional program

Mr. W. E. Sawyer, manager, states that the "Made in the South" idea is Sears way of illustrating to the general public that Southern-Made goods are the equal of goods manufactured elsewhere. The continued industrial expansion shown by the Southern States during the past 9 years bears out the fact that the buying public has shown that it agrees with Sears as to the quality of goods made in the South.

Many benefits are inherent in a program of this sort, according to Mr. Sawyer, local Sears manager. He points out that more Southern raw materials are used, more Southern labor is on payrolls, more Southern capital is invested and more Southern-made goods are to be found in markets all over the world. Each is an important factor in helping the South to create a more stabalized economy and a prosperity enjoyed by all.

The public is cordially invited to visit the local store and to inspect the numerous items manufactured in the South. These items will be featured in Sears Southern Industrilization Sale which starts tomorrow.

Texas industry last year was enriched to the tune of more than $15,350,000.00 the amount that Sears Roebuck and Co., spent for merchandise purchased from manufacturers in this state. This expenditure for Texas made merchandise was distributed among 211 different manufacturers located in 35 cities and towns.

"Our purchases in Texas would assume even greater significance if they could be reflected accurately in terms of man-hours at the factory level" said Mr. Sawyer. "Also, I feel that local residents may be interested to know that our buyers are attempting to utilize many more manufacturing concerns in this state, for one important means of cutting distribution costs is to have sources of supply as close to our outlets as possible.

TEN COMMANDMENTS BASIS OF OUR SOCIAL CONSCIENCE

Modern Man in Revolt Against Rules—Religion Today Plagued by Vagueness—Present Decline in Morals a National Challenge—Church and Nation Race With Catastrophe

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

One of the prevailing moods of our age appears to be a violent aversion to moral regulation by law.

In the field of religion this attitude is known as antinnomianism, which means "against moral law." There have been times in the history of the Church when this amounted practically to a repudiation of morals. Our attitude today is perhaps not that bad, but anyone cognizant would certainly say that it is bad enough.

Our current divorce rate holds the record as far back as records go. The annual liquor bill is nine billion dollars; and the estimate of authorities is that there are four million excessive drinkers who are a complete liability to the country, and that half of these suffer from some sort of mental or psychiatric diseases. Sex morals are believed to be even worse than whispered scandal indicates.

Even a thoughtless scanner of headlines can perceive that our times need some new force to unify and empower them—some master purpose, allegiance, and obligation. There is something seriously the matter with our national life; and all sincere people, religious and nonreligious alike, recognize this. The difference between the religious and nonreligious is that the religious insist this decline in morals is definitely the result of a failure of modern society to recognize the validity of moral law and the authority of God.

Moral Law Unchangeable

The Sunday school lesson this week is "Law in the Bible." Whatever one's estimate of the Bible may be, surely no one can say that it is vague on moral issues. The law of Sinai has stood through the ages, solid and imperishable as the mighty mountain itself. The Ten Commandments are either consciously or unconsciously the basis of what most of the world believes about right and wrong, and the Ten Commandments are only part of a vast system of moral legislation that covers almost every moral question.

More persons are dreaming today of a better order of human life than ever before in the long history of mankind. What may be called "the social conscience" of all civilization is aroused. Every convention of physicians, educators, religious bodies, labor unions, and politicians sounds this note of a new day for men and women. It seems as if everybody is giving thought to the subject of healthier, happier, more helpful, and more prosperous people. The opinion seems to be prevalent that except we have men and women of sterling worth, able to subordinate self-interest and personal desire to the common good, all our beautiful scheme for building a better world will crash.

Whether we like it or not, this means getting back to moral law. We all recognize law in the physical universe as undeviating in its operation. With less clarity we recognize economic laws at work to our weal or woe. But we cannot escape the working of inexorable moral laws. We do not "break" these moral laws. If we transgress them, they break us.

Bible and Modern Problems

"Thou shalt love they neighbor as thyself." Here is the summing up of social legislation, both ancient and modern. This is the Old Testament version of the Golden Rule. Sometimes we imagine that it was our generation that discovered the necessity for social justice and demanded it; but an insistence upon social justice is as old as the oldest portions of the Old Testament. We in this century are only beginning to catch up with the Bible. Laws having to do with fair labor practices, a humane consideration for the weak, and a due regard for the welfare of the poor were required by the Mosiac Law more than three thousand years ago and enforced with as much vigor as the best of modern laws.

The Bible is the great law book upon which most of the good laws through the centuries have been based. We need to read it in the light of modern needs, bind its teachings for a sign upon our hands, hang them as frontlets between our eyes, and write them upon the door posts of our houses and upon our gates.

Record Crops Set Farmers Planning More Next Year

By OVID A. MARTIN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—With a record crop volume practically assured for this year, farmers already are turning their attention to planting for another big output in 1949.

The agriculture department reported this in a harvest-time statement yesterday, estimating this year's total crop production will exceed the 1946 record by 8 per cent.

Favorable weather in September virtually nailed down earlier forecasts that 1948 production will top all others.

Fall plowing, field preparation and seeding of such fall-sown grains as winter wheat, rye and oats is progressing seasonably, the department said.

In some areas, however, lack of soil moisture has held up grain seeding. This was the case in parts of the Southern Great Plains where dry weather a year ago also hindered operations.

This year's record corn crop will turn out to be larger than the department had previously predicted if its latest estimate is borne out. Yesterday's report put the crop at 3,567,955,000 bushels—a boost of about 39,000,000 bushels from the September forecast.

Surpassing the 1946 record by 10 per cent, the new corn crop opens the way for a big boost in producton of meats, dairy and poultry products. Consumers should feel the benefits in the form of lower prices by late 1949, officials said.

With farm prices in general now down about 5 per cent from the January peak, an agriculture department economist said today a further drop of 15 per cent may come by the end of 1949—if peace prospects brighten.

Aiding corn in' establishing a puroduction record this season were record outturns of soybeans, peanuts, pecans and cranberries; near-record crops of wheat, oats, flaxseed, rice, sorghum grain, dry beans, and citrus fruits, and above average crops of cotton, barley, all hay, potatoes, tobacco, sugarcane, sugar beets, hops, peaches, cherries and apricots.

The combined crop of food grains—wheat, rye, rice and buckwheat was said to be the largest on record.

Mrs. S. C. Bagby and daughter, Meland, will arrive from Oklahoma City, Okla., over the week-end to attend the Sutton-Heye wedding Saturday afternoon at First Methodist Church.

Lost Cotton Bale Finally Located

A bale of cotton that was mysteriously lost after tumbling off a truck near Rice Sunday night was located Tuesday morning, Sheriff David Castles announced.

After an investigation by Deputy R. E. Jones the bale was located on the J. Anthony farm at Bird. Anthony picked up the bale and took it to Bird after being unable to determine the owner. In the meantime, the cotton truck driver, en route to Houston with a load, had secured wrecker service in Corsicana to re-load the bale. But upon arriving at the scenes Anthony already had taken it to his farm.

Officers at first thought it had been stolen.

The bale will be returned to its owner, D F. Rogers of Lubbock, Deputy Jones said.

Hazards Of Night Driving, Walking Listed By Officer

"Look out when it's dark out!"

This warning by Colonel Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety is the slogan of a traffic safety program this month emphasizing the hazards of driving and walking artef dark.

"Darkness triples your chances of a fatal accident," Colonel Garrison said, in a statement released by Highway Patrolmen here Tuesday. "That is, for every mile of motor travel three times as many fatal accidents occur in the hours of darkness as in daylight, according to the National Safety Council.

"And of all fatal traffic accidents, three out of five occur at night," he said.

"The causes of an increase in traffic accidents after dark seem pretty obvious but people seem to ignore them. You turn on the lights in your house when night falls—so let's turn a little light on the causes of night traffic accidents and try to cut down the night toll of deaths and injuries."

Here are some of the reasons why more traffic accidents occur at night, according to W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Texas Highway Patrol.

1. Motorists cannot see as far nor as well as in daylight.
2. More drivers and more pedestrians may have been drinking.
3. Drivers at night—and pedestrians, too—are more likely to be tired. Fatigue reduces alertness and ability to react quickly.
4. Speeds considered safe in aylight may be too fast ty at night.

5. Pedestrians too often do not realize they cannot be seen.

Captain Busby of the Dallas district of the Texas Highway Patrol urges motorists, pedestrians and bicycle riders to be extra cautious during hours of darkness. "Care-tion should b all times, h is doubly essenti time.'

Miss Patti John Bunch, dent at North Texas State lege, spent the week-end friends at Wichita Fals.
